Overture—

“Coriolan”

L. van Beethoven

The ORCHESTRA.

THANKS to Phalaris's stirring “Life” and Shakespeare's yet more stirring drama, everyone can know how that mighty warrior Cato Marcius, surnamed Coriolanus, delivered Rome repeatedly from the greedy grasp of her foes; and how that having done so, he was shamefully handled by the ungrateful people he had saved spurred on as they were by a few ignorant and envious mob orators; how that he was banished the city and returned breathing vengeance, with a vast and invincible army; how that on the eve of the fulfilment of his just wrath his wife and little son and mother penetrated to the hostile camp and after long entreaty prevailed on him to withdraw his troops, conscious as he was that this course was tantamount to signing his own death-warrant—as indeed events subsequently proved.

It is this terrible crisis with which Beethoven has dealt in the present powerful tragic overture; how truthfully will he tell by those who can sympathise with the contending passions which must have torn the warrior's heart during the terrible interview.

Madrigals—

(a) “Now is the Month of Maying”

Thomas Morley (1595)

(b) “Awake! Sweet Love”

John Dowland (1597)

LIEDERTAFEL and ASSOCIATED LADIES' CHOIR.

(a) NOW is the month of Maying, when merry lads are playing,

Fa la la, etc.

Each with his bonny lass, a dancing on the grass

Fa la la, etc.

The Spring clad all in gladness, doth laugh at Winter's sadness,

Fa la la, etc.

And to the Bagpipes' sound, the nymphs
tread out their ground,

Fa la la, etc.

Fie then, why sit we musing, youth's sweet delights refusing?

Fa la la, etc.

Say, dainty nymphs, and speak, shall we play barley break?

Fa la la, etc.

(b) AWAKE, sweet love! thou art re-turn'd;

My heart, which long in absence
mourn'd,

Lives now in perfect joy.

Only herself hath seemed fair,

She only I could love,

She only drove me to despair

When she unkind did prove.

Recit—

“E' Strano!”

Aria—

“Ah, fors' e' lui”

(La Traviata)

Verdi

Miss CESCA VOLLUGI.

E' STRANO! in coro scolpiti ho quegli
accenti!
Saria per me sventura un serio amore?
Che risolvì, turbata anima mia?
Nei' uomo ancora tacevamo,
Oh gioja ch'io non conobbi, esser amata amando!
E sdegnar la poss' io per l'aride follie del viver mio?
Ah, fors' è lui che l'anima solinga ne' tumulti, godea sovente pingere de' suoi colori occulti!
Lui che, modesto e virile, all'egre soglie ascese destandomi all'amor!
A quell'amor che è palpito dell'universo, dell'universo intero, misterioso, altero, croce e delizia al cor.
A me fanciulla un candido e trepido desire quest'effigio dolcissimo signor del avvenire, quando ne' cieli il raggio di sua beltà vedea e tutta me pascea de quel divino error.

Sentia che amore, è il palpito dell'universo intero misterioso croce e delizia alcor!
Follie! follie! delirio vano è questo!
Povera donna, sola, abbandonata, in questo pozzoloso deserto che appellano.
Parigi, che spero or più? che far degg'io?
gioire di voluttà ne' vortici, di voluttà
gioir? gioir! gioir!
Sempre libera degg'io folleggiare di gioja in gioja, vo' che scorra il viver mio pei senieri del piacer.
Nasca il giorno o il giorno muoja, sempre lieta ne' ri rovi a diletti sempre nuovi del volare il meo pensier.

Madrigal—

“Matona, Lovely Maiden”

Orlando Lassus (1520-1594)

LIEDERTAFEL and ASSOCIATED LADIES' CHOIR.

MATONA, lovely maiden,
O listen to the song
I sing beneath thy window,
While night clouds roll along.
Dong, dong, derry, derry, etc.
I pray you hear my ditty,
'Tis sweet and not too long,
'Tis pointed, if not witty,
And sharpened like a prong.
Dong, dong, derry, derry, etc.
The words of choicest tissue,
To shoot love's aim, belong,
Then from your window issue,
Or else you do me wrong.
Dong, dong, derry, derry, etc.

You'll say if once you catch them,
And note their fine ding dong,
Petrarcha could not match them,
They are so sweet and strong.
Dong, dong, derry, derry, etc.
But if you think the measure,
Should to all scorn belong,
A more complying treasure
I'll choose from out the throng.
Dong, dong, derry, derry, etc.

Part Song -

"Marienlied"

Michael Fraetorius (1571-1521)

LIEDERTAFEL and ASSOCIATED LADIES' CHOIR.

(Translated from the German, for the Liedertafel, by Herr H. W. Puttman).

THERE is a Rose unfolden,
Out of a tender shoot;
As sung to us of olden,
From Jesse sprung its root.
It bloom'd for our delight
All 'mid the frosts of winter,
Nigh on the noon of night.

That Roselet blest of Heaven,
Isaiah did forshow,
By Mary to us given,
The Virgin pure as snow.
She, thro' God's holy might,
Gave birth unto an Infant,
Nigh on the noon of night.

Interval ❁ ❁

Symphony -

No. 1 C major

L. van Beethoven

Adagio Molto

Allegro con brio

Andante cantabile con moto

Allegro molto e vivace (Minuetto and Trio)

Adagio

Allegro molto e vivace

The ORCHESTRA.

THIS the first of the great master's symphonic works, will be especially interesting owing to the rarity of its performance and the opportunity it affords us of observing the development of the genius of Beethoven.

Throughout the work the influence of Haydn and Mozart is felt, and it has been said that the Andante might even have been written by a Mozart or a Haydn.

The Third Movement, however, clearly prophesies the scherzo of the later symphonies as do some of the earlier chamber works of the master.

With the last Movement we are carried back to the graceful time of Haydn, with all its quaintness and light-hearted gaiety.

Madrigals -

(a) "April is in my Mistress' Face"

Thomas Morley (1594)

(b) "Flora gave me Fairest Flowers"

John Wilbye (1598)

LIEDERTAFEL and ASSOCIATED LADIES' CHOIR.

(a) APRIL is in my Mistress' face,
And July in her eyes hath place,
Within her bosom is September,
But in her heart is cold December.

O were it July all the year,
Then April show'rs I would not fear,
Nor blight that falleth in September,
Nor frost that chills in cold December.

(b) FLORA gave me fairest flowers,
None so fair in Flora's treasure.
These I placed in Phillis' bowers,
She was pleas'd and she's my pleasure.
Smiling meadows seem to say,
Come ye wantons, here to play.

To Colour Grey Hair, Use

EVE'S SHADEINE

Made in Four Colours: Light Brown,
Brown, Dark Brown, Black.—1 Liquid.

Shadeine is a new and important chemical discovery, which regenerates and develops the original colour of grey and faded hair, at the same time tinting it a perfectly natural colour. It is composed of such ingredients that it cannot cause the objectionable hues produced by most of the present dyes, and is permanent and washable when once the desired colour is obtained. It contains neither lead, silver, mercury, sulphur, nor any objectionable stain. It has no smell, does not burn, neither does it make the hair sticky or greasy, and leaves fluffy and curly hair unchanged. Shadeine encourages the growth, and keeps the scalp in a healthy state.

It is sold in four different colours as above, therefore it can be obtained to suit the natural colour of the hair of all purchasers. Shadeine is sent secretly packed, and free from label on the bottle, so that it can be left about without causing notice.

In ordering state colour required or send lock of hair.

Ladies are advised that Mr. Eve and staff of fully qualified hair colourers are daily in attendance, and give special attention to this difficult branch of hair dressing, and offer advice gratis.

Mr. Eve may be consulted free of charge, on all matters relating to premature greyness, loss of hair, bald patches.

A leading doctor says: "That wonderful colouring for the hair which by one application removes all traces of the finger marks of time and worry—otherwise grey hair, called 'Shadeine.'"

Price, 5/6. Posted throughout the States, 6/-

"The Page Song"

(Romeo and Juliet)

Gounod

Miss CESCA VOLLUGI.

SINCE yesterday I've sought in vain my master.
Oh Capulet, perhaps he yet honours thy house!
I'll sing a stave—so the servants will come
Flocking out to repair yesternight's sad disaster.

Gentle dove wherefore art thou clinging
To a wild vulture's nest?
Soon, we trust, thou wilt be a-winged
To a far dearer rest.
For the vulture loves fight and foray,
And to tear and mangle his quarry
Hath beak both sharp and strong.
Unlike thine, soft and true and slender.
Oh may thine bend to lips more tender,
With kisses warm and long.

See you guard her safely,
They that live will know
For your dove may flutter
From her cage and go.

Now, it happ'd, that a ringdove flying
From her woodland so green,
To that eyrie came one eve sighing
For her young love, I ween.
O'er a banquet of prey they'd mangled
In the vale the vulture's brood wrangled.
Harsh rose their cry afar.
But the dove, far away was hearing
Love's own voice in its tones endearing
Beneath the evening star.

See you guard her safely,
They that live will know
For your dove may flutter
From her cage and go.

Madrigal—

"Down in a Flow'ry Vale"

Constantine Festa (1541)

LIEDERTAFEL and ASSOCIATED LADIES' CHOIR.

DOWN in a flow'ry vale, all on a summer morning,
Phyllis I spied, fair nature's self adorning;
Swiftly on wings of love, I flew to meet her,
Coldly she welcomed me when I did greet her.

I warbled thus my ditty:
O shepherdess have pity,
And hear a faithful lover, his passion true discover:
Ah! why art thou to me so cruel?
Then straight replied my jewel—
If gold thou hast, fond youth, 'twill speed thy suing,
But if thy purse be empty, come not to me a wooing.

Soon as I careless strayed, fond youth, with eyes averted,
Phyllis I met, by all the swains deserted;
Swift she (tho' late so coy) then flew to meet me,
My back I turn'd, all deaf to her entreaty;
She warbled thus her ditty:
O shepherd, now have pity,
And to your faithful lover your passion true discover
Then did I, cold and haughty, view her,
And thus replied unto her—
The love that's won by gold will prove undoing;
So since my purse is empty, I go no more a wooing.
