

THE ROYAL

Metropolitan Liedertafel

PATRON:

His Excellency The Right Honourable The Earl of Hopetoun, G.C.M.G.

President:—THE HON. JUDGE CASEY, C.M.G.

Vice-President:—H. BYRON MOORE, Esq.

Conductor - - - Mr. JULIUS HERZ

SOCIAL EVENING

(For Gentlemen Only)

ATHENÆUM HALL, MELBOURNE

ON MONDAY EVENING, 27TH JUNE, 1892

THE SOCIETY WILL BE ASSISTED BY

Mr. ARMES BEAUMONT. Herr THEO. LIEBE. Mr. J. GLADSTONE WRIGHT.
Mr. H. M. LEE. Mr. D. J. DUNLOP. Hon. Pianist—Mr. G. B. FENTUM.

PROGRAMME

Part Songs { (a) "In Peaceful Slumber" Zöllner
(b) "Hussar Song" Storch

LIEDERTAFEL

(a) In peaceful slumber laid,
Thou art, my gentle maid,
Oh may no dream arise,
To fright it from thine eyes
La, la, la.

But when I sing to thee,
Then dream alone of me,
And sweeter shalt thou rest,
By such a dream caress'd.
La, la, la.

(b) HUSSARS to the fray! Hussars to the fray!
No warriors ever were bolder than they!
A flash and a blow,
And then it is over ere eye can discover.
Thou knowest not how.
Now here and now there.

Ay! whirling and rushing, and trampling and crushing,
And then, off like the air.

Hussars to the fray! Hussars to the fray!
No horsemen were ever more daring than they!

Here joy and there sorrow
They leave for the morrow.
Ere we are aware,
Hussars gather there.
As March winds arise, they come the bold-hearted.
Magyars, when departed, my heart with you flies

Song "The Demon King" Godfrey Marks

MR. D. J. DUNLOP

Part Songs { (a) "The Floweret" Jansen
(b) "Wine Galop" Kuntze

LIEDERTAFEL

(a) I KNOW a flower white and red,
A flower bright and sweet;
And tho' o'er all the earth I tread,
No fairer can I meet.
Flower fair, flower fair,
Thee on my heart oh, might I wear!

Then let me to my flower hie!
For as I heedless stray,
A tear is in her lovely eye
When I am far away.
Flower fair, flower fair,
Thee evermore oh, might I wear!

When near my flower standing by,
With hands together press'd,
I bow as tho' in Heav'n on high,
Before an angel bless'd.
Flower fair, flower fair,
Thee as my crown oh, might I wear!

MINE host, fill up!
What joy to drink of rosy wine!
Fill the glass; drink it up!
Fill the goblet to the brim.
Drink it off! Drink it off!
By the clink of glass,
By song and glee,
Toujours fidèle.

When I kiss the foaming goblet,
Dearest love, I think of thee.
When the landlord seeks his reckoning,
Then I drink, love, to thee.
Mine host, this goblet fill with wine!
[SPOKEN—One! two! three!] Hurrah!

Sweetheart, dearest sweetheart,
Dearest love, I think of thee;

Dearest love, I daily pledge thee
In the cup filled to thee.
Drink it up! My glass is gone!
Mine host, fill up!
What joy to drink of rosy wine!
Boys, take another glass of wine,
That drives all sorrow from the heart of man.
Now drain the goblet! Quick the goblet drain!
[SPOKEN—One! two! three!] Hurrah!

Song "Adelaide" Beethoven

MR. ARMES BEAUMONT

Part Song "Winter Serenade" (for words see other side) Saint Saëns

LIEDERTAFEL

It is specially requested that SMOKING be deferred until the conclusion of the First Piece after Nine o'clock, and that no WAX MATCHES be struck during any performance.

La la la la la!
We come in melodious measure,
O lady fair thy praise to sing:
'Twere to us a gladness to bring
Unto thy soul one thrill of pleasure.

What tho' with guarded door thou meet us,
If only thy heart open be?
'Tis all we are asking of thee
That thy rosy lips smile to greet us.

Song

The cold blast of winter why heed we,
If only thy bright face be near,
And shed forth a sunbeam to cheer!
Here standing at thy door what need we?
Of the brightness that spring-time bringeth
Thine abode at all times can tell,
And fair lady, where thou dost dwell
Ever the nightingale singeth.
And to know is thy bosom longing
What gallant maskers these may be,

"My Life for Thee"

MR. H. M. LEE

That come to say good-night to thee
And beneath thy window are thronging.
List then to what our song discovers:
With mask we our eyes closely hide,
Thus jealous lovers we deride,
We are rovers, yes, gallant rovers,
For our gentle courtesy noted,
Two deities ruling our hearts,
To woman and to song devoted.
La la la la la! Ah! ah!

Stephen Adams

Cello Solo

Andante from B minor Concerto

Goltermann

Herr THEO. LIEBE

Cantata

"To the Sons of Art"

Mendelssohn

Soli, MESSRS. T. JACK, S. FRIPP, S. J. BRUCE AND A. E. JOHNS.

LIEDERTAFEL

O SONS of Art, man's dignity to you is given:
Preserve it man!
It falls with you, with you ascends to heaven!
The hallowed themes of Magian dreams,
Founded in wisdom's vast creation,
Gliding like rivers find their ocean,
That great harmonious plan.

Eternal truth tho' oft rejected,
Exists not ever unprotected;
She finds a refuge with the tuneful throng.
She there appears in all her glory,
Mighty when veiled in mystic story;
She wakes the lay of lofty voices,
And over all her foes rejoices,
Her vengeance flashing, peals in song.

To your free mother homage render,
Boldly to gain her height aspire;
Enthron'd she dwells in radiant splendour
No other crown than hers desire.

While you her thousand paths are tracing
Press onward, keeping Truth in sight;
Come altogether, stand embracing
Before the Throne where paths unite!

Recit. and Aria

"The Pilgrim of Love"

Bishop

MR. ARMES BEAUMONT

Part Song

"The Beleaguered"

Sullivan

LIEDERTAFEL

FLING wide the gates! come out!
Dauntless and true;
Brothers, of heart be stout,
We are but few.
Bring from the battlements
Our flag again;
Tho' by the leaguer rent
It hath no stain.

Mothers and wives to pray'r,
From morn till eve;
The Lord of Hosts will care
For all we leave.
Plead that we sought not fight,
Nor chose the field;
But ev'ry free heart's right
We dare not yield.

Who needs the trumpet blown
To make him bold?
Who speaks in undertone,
Of ransom gold?
Let such his counsel hide
In vault or cave,
We have no time to chide
A willing slave.

Mothers and wives, to prayer
Relief is nigh,
For you each arm will dare
Deeds not do die,
For sure as fire doth blaze,
Or foams the sea,
You shall to-night upraise
Songs of the free.

Song

"I Fear no Foe"
MR. GLADSTONE WRIGHT

Pinsuti

Cello Solo

(a) Melody in F
(b) Gavotte in D

Rubinstein

Popper

Herr THEO. LIEBE

Part Song

"Bacchanalian Election"

Kässmayer

Solo by MR. GLADSTONE WRIGHT.

LIEDERTAFEL

Bacchus: Ye lords, whose vinous treasure
Should mankind's woes allay,
I've called you in displeasure
Before my cask to-day.
The world more melancholy
And tedious daily grows,
And deems the wisdom folly
That from the winecup flows.
The people drudge and labour,
Deluded as of old—
The cassock rules and sabre,—
'Tis pity to behold!
Such misrule and defection,
By Styx! I'll bear no more!
Back to our gay subjection
The world we must restore.
And therefore, children of the berry,
Ye wines, both young and mellow, all take heed—
A King we'll choose both wise and merry,
So haste, approach, and to the poll proceed!

Chorus of Wines: Great Bacchus, hail!
Thy plan is wise, it cannot fail.
Our faith we plight by red and white,
The best of wines, wherever grown,
We loyally as king shall own!

Bacchus: See Don Sherry then, Spain's redoubtable knight,
He firstly appears your kind votes to invite;
By churchmen and laymen he'er was beloved,
By Philip the Pious and Alba approv'd.
And e'en Isabella, the fond-hearted queen,
Regarded our knight with affectionate mien.
Where to sound of castanet
Gaily the fandango twines,
Where the sun doth never set,
Choose ye there the King of Wines?

Chorus: Oh no, no, no!
A Philistine and bigot he,
Our king Don Sherry cannot be!

Bacchus: Prefer ye then Tokay, the valiant Magyar,
Who has oft prov'd his mettle in love and in war;
The spoilt child of fortune, audacious and bold,
Caress'd by the ladies, the young and the old.
Mariankas a-many his honey have sipp'd,
And sturdy young Wencels he many has tripp'd.
Where the careless gipsy strays,
Fiddling his fantastic lays,
Spurs the nut-brown maidens wear—
Will ye choose your monarch there?

Chorus: Oh no, no, no!
This wine, too sweet by far is he—
Tokay our king can never be!

Bacchus: The Baron of Grüneberg now comes to view:
Whoever molests him, his boldness shall rue;
A scion of old and acidulous name,
His "vinegar aspect" belies not his fame.
No enemy yet could against him prevail—
He drank, made grimaces, and quickly turned tail.
Then if as monarch you select
This candidate sardonic,
Your stoutest foes you may defy,
They'll come and taste, and conquer'd fly!
Yes, such a king if you elect,
Will prove a bitter tonic!

Chorus: No, no! no, no!
This is a false deceitful wine,
He never shall be king of mine!

Bacchus: Behold then the Frenchman! Pretender in chief
The lord of Champagne is, in all men's belief.
The elements four as his sponsors have stood,
And lavished their gifts in a generous mood.

From Fire he had the fervid glow
That animates his flow;
And Water gave the beads that swim
Like pearls on goblet's brim;
The Earth bestow'd a golden dress,
The garb of joyousness;
And Air gave him the spirit free,
That strives for liberty.
Piff, paff! see the froth
Mounting in the cup, sirs!
Piff, paff! be not loth,
Quick and drink it up, sirs!
Fill again, drink again,
Sparkling vintage of Champagne—
Crown him king and let him reign
O'er all the world's domain!

Chorus: No! 'tis an uproarious wine,
A braggart and vain-glorious wine!
Howe'er he fume and rave,
He fills your glass but half, the knave!
A boaster he, on conquest bent,
But whose elan is quickly spent.
No, no! Champagne
As King of Wines shall never reign!

Bacchus: Then lo! by the Rhine-river's bountifu flow
Behold the vine of Rauenthal grow!
From pure Teutonic blood 'tis sprung,
Makes glad the heart, the spirit young,—
The golden Rhine wine, say,
Shall he as King have sway?

Chorus: In crystal green the golden wine,
The heart's blood of dear Father Rhine,
Yes, send the strain o'er land and sea—
This shall our King, our Emp'ror be!
All joyous hearts in concord sing,
The glorious Rhine-wine shall be King!

Free translation by H.W.P.

"GOD SAVE THE QUEEN"

CHAS. D. DIXON, Hon. Secretary.