MELBOURNE LIEDERTAFEL.

THE FOLLOWING IS

The Scheme.

A fanfare of trumpets will announce the entrance of His EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR, and subsequently the NATIONAL ANTHEM will be sung by the LIEDERTAFEL.

PART I.

CHORAL BALLAD - Landerkennung - Edvard Grieg.

SOLO BARITONE—HERR LOUIS FLEISSNER.

THE LIEDERTAFEL.

AND it was Olav Trygvason,
Sailing on the north sea wide,
Bearing the hope to found a kingdom,
Far on the other side
Yonder the cliffs appearing,
Like a battlement loom, their dark crest rearing,
And it was Olav Trygvason,
Found he ne'er a spot to land,
E'en like the waves the royal desire,
Shattered upon the strand.
"See!" cried the bard unleaping,
"Yonder snow covered-peaks o'er cloud bands peeping."

And it was Olav Trygvason,
Suddenly he seemed to sight
Towering temples, domes and spires,
Glist'ning in virgin white.
Then vowed the king undaunted,
With his followers to tread that land enchanted,

Onward he went; the rushing streams
 Heralded the coming spring,
 Swayed in the stormy wind the forest strangely was mur-
 muring,
 Sounds as of church bells chiming,
 And then spake the king,
 Spake as tho' dreaming:
 "Here the spot to found our kingdom!
 Hell! these temple walls defy thee!
 Hearts are swelling, souls are yearning,
 God, to thee alone be glory.

"Be my faith as yonder mountains,
 Root as deeply, shine as purely;
 And as these my faith strive upwards,
 On to him, the All Creator."
 Olav's prayer be ours to utter,
 As we near the throne of mercy.
 Hearts are swelling, souls are yearning,
 God to thee, alone be glory
 On to God! On to God!

SONG - - Unspoken Words - Gastaldon.

MISS KITTY GRINDLEY.

PART SONGS (without an Accompaniment)—

(a) Last Night - - Kjerulf.

SOLOIST—MR. H. J. ROBINSON.

(b) 'Neath the Ship's gay 'broidered awning
 (From The Pearl of Brazil) F. David.

THE LIEDERTAFEL.

(a) LAST night the nightingale 'woke me,
 Last night when all was still,
 It sang in the golden moonlight
 From out the woodland hill.

(6)

I open'd the window so gently,
I look'd on the dreaming dew,
And oh! the bird, my darling, was singing,
Singing of you, of you,
Yes, singing of you.

I think of you in the day time,
I dream of you by night,
I wake and would you were here, love,
And tears are blinding my sight.
I hear a low breath in the lime tree,
The wind is floating through,
And oh! the night, my darling,
Is sighing, sighing of you, of you,
Is sighing of you.

Oh think not I can forget you;
I could not if I would,
I see you in all around me—
The stream, the night, the wood,
The flowers that slumber so gently,
The stars above the blue,
Oh! Heaven itself my darling,
Is praying, praying for you, for you,
Is praying for you.

- (b) 'NEATH the ships' gay 'broidered awning,
Brightly coloured by the setting sun,
Let us drink, friends, 'till day's dawning,
Wine that makes the blood more swiftly run;
And let each repeat again, again,
The hardy sailors' say refrain.
'Neath the ships' gay 'broidered awning,
Comrades drink here 'till day's dawning;
To the Admiral give all homage,
Laud his glory, and his courage;
Let the crew with one accord,
To-day some pledge of love afford;
Of courage, courage, let us sing,
To work this same true spirit bring.
Ah! yes, through wine's aid all danger scorning,
Comrades, comrades, drink here till day's dawning.

SCENA—ED stria E strano è strano

(La Traviata) Verdi.

MADAME SCHREIBER.

MILA

By ROBERT SCHWALM,

Op. 38.

(Translated from the German by SIEGFRIED PINCUS, Fitzroy.)

This work is the gift of the Conductor.

ROBERT SCHWALM'S Mila is essentially a product of the modern German school of thought. The original text has been done into English for the Liedertafel by Mr. SIEGFRIED PINCUS, one of the Performing Members. Mila will be presented for the first time in Australia this evening.

The fragrance of the rose, breathing sweetness and laden with love and longing, fades and dies—if its dainty petals be wantonly culled and scattered. Even so, this superb tone-picture tells its own wondrous love-tale, an ideal romance of a fierce conflict betwixt human passion and superhuman power—it is a canvas wedded to colours of such a dazzling brilliancy and exquisite beauty as to defy description and scorn dissection.

MILA - - - - - MADAME SCHREIBER.

VULCAN - - - - - MR. P. C. JOSEPHS.

SOLO QUARTETTE - MESSRS. H. ROBINSON, J. CHAMPION,
C. HALL, AND W. C. JONES.

CHORUS. FAR into the mountain-forest
Into Vulcan's dark dominion,
Climbs the lithe and lovely Mila,
And she tarries near his cave.

Round her golden curls a garland
Of forget-me-nots she twineth;
From her lips the wings of Zephyr
Softly waft her words of love:

MILA. "Vulcan!
Hear me, dark and fiery spirit!
Rise! For thee my soul is thirsting.
Rise! For thee my lone heart longs!"

CHORUS. Through the ravine roars the thunder,
Through the clefts the lightning flashes;
Lo, the rocks are rent asunder,
Burning lava belching forth.

From the depths the spirit speaketh:

VULCAN. "Child, beware and cease to call me,
Stay thy tongue nor try to tempt me,
Fearful fruit thy frolic bears.

"Hark, the tempest rages fiercel
When thy accents soft are falling;
See, the flames but grow in fury
Whilst thy image lures my heart.

"Tremble, if I to thy wooing
Yield, and leave my spheres, the fiery
Torture lurks in my embraces,
And my kiss it seals thy death!"

CHORUS
(TENORS). Lightly laughs the lovely Mila,
Gaily shakes her golden tresses.

MILA. "Even I, the little maiden,
Make thee, mighty spirit, quail!
Vulcan, see, for that I like thee;
Fume and reek and blaze and thunder
To thy heart's content, beloved,
Fume, but rise and come to me!

For I do not fear thy fury
See, the learned Monks have taught me
Instantly thou must surrender
If I utter the word: "Cross."

See, the spell doth tell already,
Quickly quelling flame and flashes,
And the storm grows faint and fainter
Since that mystic word I spoke."

(QUARTETTE.) Linden blossoms' balmy fragrance
Weave a web of magic sweetness,
And the nightingale sings softly
Its alluring lay of love.

CHORUS
(TENORS). 'Gainst the rugged rock is nestling
Mila, fearlessly and fondly,
And she whispers words of longing
Down into the dark abyss.

MILA. "Prithee, rise, beloved spirit!
Pray, come forth! Devouring passion
Burns within my bosom fiercely,
Fiercer far than all thy flames!

Weary am I of frail mortals'
Weakly wooing; thee I crave for,
Mighty spirit; still my longing.
Fill the void within my heart!"

CHORUS. Lo, the earth with crash terrific,
Quakes and quivers and cleaves open,
Out of crimson clouds of vapour
Awe-inspiring steps the god.
On his head a crown of fire,
Raven tresses on his shoulders,
Dreamy sadness droops the eyelids,
Yet each glance a vivid flash.

Stately, with majestic grandeur
Wide his mighty arms he opens,
And a robe of purple splendour
Brilliant radiance sheds around.

(SOLO 1ST BASS) Spell-bound, lost in awe and rapture,
Mute and motionless stands Mila;
Heeding not the priestly wisdom
She but whispers:

MILA: "Ah! sublime!"

CHORUS. Stately, still, with solemn grandeur
Wide his mighty arms he opens,
And upon his breast sinks Mila.

Through the ravine roars the thunder,
Through the clefts the lightning flashes,
Lo, the rocks are rent asunder,
Burning lava belching forth.

Through the fiercely seething torrents,
To his fiery realm bears Vulcan
Triumphantly down his bride.

PART II.

PART SONG - Tell Me, Flora - Ciro. Pinsuti.
(Without an Accompaniment)

Associated Ladies' Choir and Liedertafel.

TELL me, Flora, tell me truly,
Why this heart no more is free,
Why my thoughts are so unruly,
Why they only turn to thee?
If a studious mood comes o'er me,
And to reading I incline,
Tell me why I see before me
Flora's name in every line?
Tell me Flora, tell me truly,
Why my thoughts but turn to thee?

Tell me when soft zephyrs playing,
Sportive thro' the leafy dell,
Why they sound like voices saying,
Flora scarce on earth should dwell?
Why, when o'er the waters stealing,
Village bells' sweet measures come,
This the burden of their pealing,
Flora, hasten to thine home.
Tell me, Flora tell me truly,
Why this heart no more is free?

SOLO PIANOFORTE - Scherzo in B-flat minor

MISS DORA STAMP

(A STUDENT OF MR. H. J. KING).

F. Chopin
(Op. 31.).

SONG - Die Vätergruft (A Death Summons)

FIRST TIME IN AUSTRALIA.

MR. P. C. JOSEPHS.

Franz Liszt.

NOTE.—Those wishing to leave the hall before the conclusion of the performance will please avail themselves of this opportunity, as the doors will not be re-opened until the "Scheme" is completed.

Scenes from OLAV TRYGVASON

(BJÖRNSTJERNE BJÖNSEN),

... FOR ...

SOLOISTS, CHOIR, AND ORCHESTRA.

... BY ...

EDVARD GRIEG,

Op. 50.

This work is the gift of the Conductor, and will be performed for the first time in Australia to-night.

A SACRIFICER	-	-	Mr. J. BRIERLEY
A WOMAN	-	-	Miss KITTY GRINDLEY.
THE VÖLVA	-	-	Miss GRACE KEMP.

MEN AND WOMEN.

Associated Ladies' Choir and Liedertafel.

OLAV TRYGVASON, a descendant of Harold Haarfager (the first king of Norway), was brought up at the court of Gardarika (Russia), and was baptized in England while on a Viking raid. When he learned that Norway was dissatisfied with her king (a scion of an older branch of the same race), he resolved upon conquering the kingdom and converting the people to Christianity. Richly endowed by nature, the superior of all his contemporaries in bodily and spiritual gifts, and so comely to behold that none had seen his like; he was revered in the middle ages as the noblest example of the Norman race; he conquered more by his personality than by his sword. He commenced his struggle in the Drontheim district, and the beginning of this conflict is depicted in the scenes of the drama here set to music.

The action takes place in an ancient Norman temple in the Drontheim district, at the time of Olav Trygvason's appearance. Period—End of the tenth century.

A SACRIFICER—

THOU to whom fancy lends many titles,
Giver of runes and of magic!
Working before the world's beginning,
Thou who outgazeest from Lidskialf.

MEN—

Hear us!

A WOMAN—

Tender mother Frigga, sorrowing for Balder ;
Bearing in thy bosom all worldly woe ;
Comforter of Odin, nourisher of nature,
Drawing all life and care into Fensal.

WOMEN—

Hear us!

THE SACRIFICER—

Trudyang's Hlorrida, Bilskirner's Yireflame,
Thou of the strength-belt and hammer,
Shield of the Aesir and of the Northmen,
Ever the dread of the giants.

MEN—

Hear us!

THE WOMAN—

Beauteous weeping goddess, silent widow Vannadis,
Love's distress thine own loss taught unto thee !
Let our tears of sorrow with thine own be mingled ;
Thou who dost govern half of the living.

WOMEN—

Hear us!

THE SACRIFICER—

Horn-bearing Heimdal, Ull in Ydaler,
Nyörd, mighty north-dweller, hear us !
Algenheim's joy, Landvida's sorrow,
Long-bearded minstrel, and thou Tyr.

MEN—

Hear us!

THE WOMAN—

Ever-youthful Idun, Sif of golden harvests,
Saga of the streamlet, Skada of the hills,
All ye, mighty Aesir, Vanir and Valkyrie,
Hear our complaining, earthward oh hasten !

WOMEN—

Hear us!

MEN AND WOMEN—

Other gods are now arising,
Gods of power, gods of battle;
Help us, Mitgard trembles,
Gods alone with gods can wrestle!

(All kneeling.)

Ye who from the Urdar fountains pour life-strength into our bosoms,
Ye alone who know his will, the Father in gold-canopied
Gimle;
Ye in Odin's ear who whisper softly as each day awakens,
Ye who were ere world's beginning,
Ye who will be when 'tis wasted,
Show our fates the way to him, the god so long awaited—
Hear us!

THE VÖLVA—(From an elevation in the foreground)—

'Tis not enough that ye invoke Nornir and Aesir,
Runes must be graven duly
Evil to disperse from the pathway which to the gods doth lead.
There, see the gathered hosts
Upon their horns howling, to hide our voices,
That the gods never may hear us!

MEN AND WOMEN—

O prophetess mighty, rise in thy magic!
Fill heaven and earth with Odin's word!

THE VÖLVA—(Raises herself so that she stands high above all the others)—

Spirits base, basely mastered, ye who come from the southlands,
With Hel soon shall feast be holden:
Plague shall gnaw, serpents send through your veins deadly venom!
Let Hel's hounds awake, howling and foaming,
Monsters filled with madness, for your blood thirsting blindly!
For Hel no fitter food can afford them!
With Hel! spirits base, basely mastered, ye who come from the southland,
With Hel, here in the north, your feast is.

MEN AND WOMEN—

O prophetess mighty, rise in thy magic!
Fill heaven and earth with Odin's word!

THE VÖLVA—(Who has been carving runes, now continues to cut eagerly)—

Spirits base, basely mastered, ye who come from the southland;
To Hel soon shall your way be wended!
Evil ones away! the Thunderer's weapon awaits ye!
Runes I wrote on a staff I rent from the altar of Odin.
To Hel straightway its charm consigns ye.
To Hel! Runes will lead Lokis lot unto the doors of his daughters,
With Hel ye shall devour that writing.

(She casts the Rune-staff on the holy fire, which immediately bursts into flames that ascend to the roof of the Temple. A horrible din, accompanied by thunder in the distance, shakes the Temple.)

MEN AND WOMEN—(Kneeling in terror)—

Wondrous word of Odin goes
To black abyss, the heaven's height,
Awful, returneth the answer.

THE VÖLVA—

Answer came from Hel, from high gods;
All fear it, yet not I.
Now let us kneel to them!
Every path is free!
So I will pray them first.

Gods, ye holy, eternal gods!
Are ye here? Then heed me!
Where find we the fiat which governs our fate?
Where bends your balance, ordering all?
Show, ah! show to me, ye mighty ones,
Where ye will strike the evil Olaf?
Gods all-governing, endless, omnipotent Aesir; I pray;
Devoted to Odin from my youth.
By the grey wolf's heart, by the raven's tongue,
By my sacrifice in sleepless nights, I pray you!
Show me, mighty ones, where ye will strike the evil Olaf.

(A crash of thunder and the back of the Temple is shattered. The Temple is seen in the distance enclosed in flames and smoke. Thunder continually heard until the Temple becomes invisible.)

THE VÖLVA, MEN AND WOMEN—

Here! here! hasten the holy ones!
Here! here! strikes him the vengeance of heaven!

In our hall he must enter,
Let him go in, ne'er to come forth again.

(With mockery.)

Let this be told to him—
We will believe if he come safely forth.

Let his god go in to our gods!
If he safely come forth, we will believe

ALL (Turning towards the gods)—

Thanks for the token, solace it sends to us.
Thanks for the token, faith it confirms!
Choice of thy children, come then, oh king, to us;
Come to thy children, strife will be short!
Now will the gods themselves go on their gladsome way,
Now will the gods themselves grant us their grace!
Lift from our land by fire, lo, he shall leave us;
Loki shall lighten him hence unto Hel!

(Assembling round the images of the gods.)

Three nights besought we, suing like son to sire,
Three nights we pleaded, heard is our prayer.

The Sacrificer and Elders having procured horns, they form a circle round the three "Holy Fires;" afterwards advancing and seating themselves at the sides. The Sacrificer, having made the "hammer sign," over the horns, proceeds to render the following song.)

THE SACRIFICER—

Raise high the horn, great host-father, Odin's horn,
Raise high the horn, upheave it for him.

High altar fires and Akethn's hammer-sign,
High altar fires have hallowed it.

MEN AND WOMEN—

Gladly we join in
Games for the gracious god,
Gladly we join in
Outbursts of joy!

(Preparations are made by the people for a dance. The men leap over the "Holy Fire," lifting the women over on both sides. Then commences a Temple dance in which all join.)

QUARTETTE—

Give to all gods a grace-cup of gratitude,
Give to all gods your greatest of gifts.

MEN AND WOMEN—

Horns fill for Akethor, Drontheimer's deity,
Fill them to Akethor, daring in fight.
Gladly then, etc.

Fill up to Nyord and Frey, harvest and fish they send,
Fill up to Nyord and Frey, harvest fair, haul of fish,
To freedom, and faith.
Gaily then, etc.

Beakers to Braga, bring we with holy vows,
Beakers to Braga, brimming we raise!
Offerings of flesh and blood
To Braga we all freely bring.
Gaily then, etc.

WOMEN—

O ye Asynier, honour we offer thee,
All ye Asynier, honour and praise!
Nourish, oh mild ones, men with your mother milk,
Nourish us ye who move us with might!
Young men and maidens, grandsire and grandmother,
Honour for aye the gods ever green!
Gladly then, etc.

MEN AND WOMEN—

Glorious Disir, gliding like doves around!
Glorious Disir, death making glad!
Guarding ye, follow friendly our future fate,
Guarding ye, follow us, hail to your flight!
Fortune of fathers, holdeth the hamingja
Fortune of fathers and of the race.

WOMEN—

O ye Asynia, etc.

MEN AND WOMEN—

Earthmen and Kobalds, deepening the ground for us,
Earthmen and Kobalds, hail to your kind!
Hail to the highest spirit that hides in hills!
Hail! tiny elves who frolic in flow'rs.

Hail our upholder, guardian of house and halls,
Hail who upholdest harbour and holm.

Gladly then, etc.

Faith of our fatherland, love thou dost light in us,
Faith of our fatherland, moving all men.

We will defend thee, fight for our father's faith,
We will defend thee, future be ours.
We will defend thee, source of our weal and woe,
We will defend thee, fount of great deeds.

Three nights besought we suing, like son to sire,
Three nights we prayed, and heard was our prayer.
The first night offered we bowls of bloody sacrifice,
On the first offered we oxen with prayer.
Next night guest-offering gave we the gracious gods,
Over their images uttering prayer.
On the third night fair dream faces favoured us,
On the third night we danced and we sang,
Gladly we joined in games to the gracious gods
Gaily we joined in outbursts of joy.
