Part Song:—

Ring Out, Wild Bells

P. E. Fletcher

Presented to the Society by Mr. Charles Miller.

THE ROYAL VICTORIAN LIEDERTAFEL

and

A.B.C. MILITARY BAND

Ring out, wild bells, to the wild sky,
The flying cloud, the frosty light;
The year is dying in the night,
Ring out, wild bells, and let him die.

Ring out the old, ring in the new,
Ring, happy bells, across the snow;
The year is going, let him go,
Ring out the false, ring in the true
Ring out the old, ring in the new.

Ring out the grief that saps the mind,
For those that here we see no more;
Ring out the feud of rich and poor,
Ring in redress to all mankind.

Ring out a slowly dying cause,
And ancient forms of party strife,
Ring in the nobler modes of life,
With sweeter manners, purer laws.

Ring out the old, ring in the new;
Ring, happy bells, across the snow,

The year is going, let him go.
Ring out the false, ring in the true,
Ring out the old, ring in the new.

Ring out false pride in place and blood,
The civic slander and the spite;
Ring in the love of truth and right,
Ring in the common love of good.

Ring out old shapes of foul disease,
Ring out the narrowing lust of gold;
Ring out the thousand wars of old,
Ring in the thousand years of peace;

Ring in the valiant man and free,
The larger heart, the kindlier hand;
Ring out the darkness of the land,
Ring in the Christ that is to be!

Ring out the old, ring in the new,
The year is going, let him go;
Ring out the false, ring in the true,
Ring out the old, ring in the new.

THE ROYAL VICTORIAN LIEDERTAFEL CHOIR OF BOYS and A.B.C. BAND

(a) Sleep, holy Babe, upon Thy Mother's breast,
Great Lord of earth and sea and sky,
How sweet it is to see Thee lie
In such a place of rest.

Sleep, holy Babe; Thine Angels watch around,
All bending low, with folded wings,
Before the incarnate King of Kings,
In reverent awe profound.

Sleep, holy Babe, ah! take Thy brief repose;
Too quickly will Thy slumbers
break,
And Thou to lengthened pains
awake,
That Death alone shall close.

(b) Like silver lamps in a distant shrine
The stars are sparkling bright;
The bells of the city of God ring out,
For the Son of Mary was born tonight;
The gloom is past, and the morn at last
Is coming with Orient light.

Never fell melodies half so sweet
As those which are filling the skies;
And never a palace shone half so fair

As the manger bed where our Saviour lies;
No night in the year is half so dear
As this which has ended our sighs.

Now a new power has come on earth,
A match for the armies of Hell;
A Child is born who shall conquer
the foe,
And all the spirit of wickedness
quell;
For Mary's Son is the Mighty One
Whom the prophets of God foretell.

The stars of heaven still shine as at first
They gleamed on this wonderful
night;
The bells of the city of God peal out,
And the Angels' song still rings on
the height;
And love still turns where the Godhead
burns,
Hid in flesh from fleshly sight.

Faith sees no longer the stable floor,
The pavement of sapphire is there;
The clear light of Heaven streams out to the world,
The Angels of God are crowding
the air;
And Heaven and earth, through the
spotless birth,
Are at peace on this night so fair.

No. 1.

(Free Translation)

Now I am thine, flower of all flowers!
And sing always only of thy glory!
I will be zealous to consecrate myself
To you and your suffering!
Selected woman,
Thou art all my hope.

My inmost feelings will always be open to thee.

Come to deliver me from the curse of evil
That struck me so hardly,
Ye star of the sea,
Ye port of all happiness!
Before I die.
Look down from Heaven,
O Queen of all suns!
The spring of thy mercy will never cease.

Thou aid to victory to those laden with ignominy.
To be near to thee and to sit at thy feet,
That cures all harm and injury.
I suffer hard and well-earned punishment,
I am afraid of my eternal sleep.
Do stay with me and lead me through the sea to the haven.

No. 2.

Ah! the eyes of the holy boy appeared so beautiful and clear to me,
And something shines out of them that wins all my heart.
He looks with his sweet eyes to my eyes;
If he would see his face therein he would greet me kindly;
So I surrender myself perfectly to him only
to serve his eyes,
For something shines out of them that wins
all my heart.

No. 3.

You that float around these palms in night
and wind,
You holy angels, calm the tops of the trees,
There slumbers my child;
You palms of Bethlehem in the storm,
How can you blow so furiously to-day?
Do calm the storm.
Be silent and bow softly and gently;
There slumbers my child.
The heaven's child suffers pains;
Ah, how tired he was from grief of earth!
Ah, in his sleep softly passes his torment.
Do calm the storm.
There slumbers my child.
Grim cold strikes down;
With what shall I cover my child's limbs?
Ah, you angels, flying winged through the
night,
Do calm the storm;
There slumbers my child.

German Folk Song

THE ROYAL VICTORIAN LIEDERTAFEL

(a) It seemed as tho' high heaven
Had stooped to kiss the earth,
Awaking countless blossoms
To new life-giving birth.

The breeze was gently blowing,
The rye swayed to and fro,
The stars were mildly glowing,
The forests murmured low.

And my rapt soul its pinions
Did eagerly outspread,
As though from earth's dominions
To higher homes it fled.

---Ben Jonson.

(b)
Sleep, rest, my love, rest,
Dieth the moan of the wind in the tree,
Foldeth her pinions the bird in her nest,
Sinks the sun to his bed in the sea.
Sleep, lull'd on my breast,
Tossing and troubled and thinking of me,
Peace, falleth the night,
Veiling in shadows her glory for thee,
Eyes may be darken'd while visions are bright,
Senses be fetter'd, though fancy is free.
Peace, peace, slumbering light,
Longing, and loving and dreaming of me.

(c)
I know not why my gladness
Hath passed so soon away,
My soul is filled to sadness
With lilt of olden lay.
The air is dewy and darkling,
And calmly floweth the Rhine,
The crest of the hills is sparkling
In light of even shine.

There sitteth a maid in the gloaming,
A maid divinely fair,
Mid gleam of her gems is combing
Her curls of golden hair.

From golden comb she is raining
Her tresses, and sings from on high
A passionate, soul enchanting,
Entrancing melody.

The sailor with wild pangs thrilling
Is chained by magic tone,
While breakers his skiff is filling,
He gazes on her alone.
He, with the surge descending,
Is swept along with his boat,
And such is e'er the ending
Of Lorelei's witching note.

Christmas Appeal

The festive season again approaches, and a happy sense of holiday rest and enjoyment fills our hearts, suggesting kindly thoughts and generous acts.

This evening members and their friends will be afforded an opportunity of contributing to the funds of the

Victorian Homes for Aged and Infirm, Royal Park

"Life is short, and we have never too much time for gladdening the hearts of those who are travelling the dark journey with us. Oh! be swift to love, make haste to be kind."—Amiel.

Dr. Campbell Tobacco Fund

A box will be found at the main entrance for receiving contributions of Tobacco, Cigars, Pipes, etc.

"I began, by idle accident, to associate the Christmas time of year with human interest, and with some inquiry into, and some care for, the lives of those by whom I found myself surrounded. . . . A good time; a kind, forgiving, charitable time; the only time I knew of, in the long calendar of the year, when men and women seem by one consent to open their shut-up hearts freely. . . . And, therefore, tho' it has never put a scrap of gold or silver in my pocket, I believe it HAS done me good, and WILL do me good, and I say, 'God bless it.'"—Chas. Dickens.

Carols—

Child Divine

Dr. Bridge

THE ROYAL VICTORIAN LIEDERTAFEL CHOIR OF BOYS and BAND

List! afar! what Angel voices
Fall upon the winter night!
Earth amid the sound rejoices;
Broods of evil speed their flight.
List, for aye sweet words of gladness
Through the generations roll,
Calming every mourner's sadness,
"Christ is born to save thy soul."
Child Divine, what pow'rs are round Thee,
Health to man Thy presence brings;
Age by age have myriads found Thee
Lord of Lords and King of Kings!

Born to heal what sin hath broken,
Born, its captives to release,
Born, by prophet lips forespoken,
Mighty God and Prince of Peace,
When the passions rage in blindness,
Thou their stormy waves canst still.

Turning by Thy spell of kindness
Hate and malice to goodwill.
Child Divine, whoe'er hath known Thee
Hails the joy thy presence brings,
Thine through life in death we own Thee,
Lord of Lords and King of Kings!

Sing, ye hosts, triumphant thronging,
Round the Lamb enthroned in light,
Sing, O man, the hymn prolonging,
Through thy toils of hourly fight,
Sing what grace, what nameless glory
Stoop'd to rescue sons of earth,
Grateful, spread the wondrous story,
Hail the Incarnate Saviour's birth.
Child Divine, all hearts that know Thee
Know the strength Thy presence brings,
Know what debt of love we owe Thee,
Lord of Lords and King of Kings!

MADAME ALICE ORFF-SOLSCHER

(a) A WINTER DEDICATION.

In days of winter dreary,
When all is gloom and night,
Yet knows the heart one blessing,
Each unto each confessing,
What fills his soul with inner light.

The flame of love enkindled
Shall burn eternally;
What soul to soul uniteth
And fire of love igniteth,
Let that our whispered watchword be.

The wheel of time is turning,
Yet heed we not its flight;
The world in vain allureth,
While Love alone endureth;
We vow ourselves to love, by day, by
night.

(b) HYMN TO THE NIGHT.

Holy night! Holy night!
Starbounded Heaven's peace!
All is united that the day has separated,
All wounds bleed sweetly in evening glow.

Bjelborg's spear! Bjelborg's spear
Sinks into the depth of the elated earth,
Which dives with happy air to the bosom of dark lusts.

Holy night! Sweet bride! Sweet bride!
H.de your sweet shame.
When the wedding cup's sweetness descends,
The day enters into the lustful night!

Holy night! etc.

(Why Should We Seek to Hide Our Passion?)

Why should we seek to hide our passion—
The bliss that bids our hearts o'erflow?
Nay, every human creature living
Our soul's exultant joy shall know!

When two fond hearts with love are beating
A shout of joy through Nature goes,
And o'er the hours of lovers' meeting
Soft summer eve its shadow throws.

E'en from the oak's decaying trunk,
That saw a thousand years go by,
A crown of green once more doth blossom—
It lifts those aged branches high.

Each leaf, each flower, awakes to gladness,
Their choicest colours they display;
The brooklet murmurs softer music,
And blossoms' fragrant splendour tell
'tis May!

Why should we seek to hide our passion—
The bliss that bids our hearts o'erflow?
Nay, every human creature living, all earth,
Now I am thine, flower, of all flowers!

(a)
Love, fear not if sad thy dreaming
All thro' the night.
Though o'ercast bright stars are gleaming
All thro' the night.
Joy will come to thee at morning,
Life with sunny hope adorning,
Tho' sad dreams may give dark warning
All thro' the night.

Angels watching ever round thee
All thro' the night.
In thy slumbers close surround thee,
All thro' the night.
They should of all fears disarm thee;
No forebodings should alarm thee;
They will let no peril harm thee,
All thro' the night.

(b) Ev'ry rustling tree is at peace,
The whispering winds do cease,
And no sound is heard,

The birds are all sunk in slumber;
Wait-a-while, wait-a-while,
Soon shalt thou, too, rest in peace,
Wait-a-while, wait-a-while,
Soon shalt thou, too, rest in peace,
Thou shalt rest in peace.

(c) While moon and stars above us
Their airy dance renew,
Say, why should sadness move us,
Or earth-born care pursue?
Behold! the soft beams play, love,
Come in my bark away, love,

And glide from bondage free,
Across the dark blue sea,
Now midnight's boding number
From good Saint Mark's I hear,
And all are hushed in slumber
Except Thy Gondolier.

MADAME ALICE ORFF-SOLSCHER

and

THE ROYAL VICTORIAN LIEDERTAFEL

(a) Great is Jehovah the Lord!
The heaven and the earth both proclaim
His mighty power.
We hear Him when roareth the storm,
When the wind through the woods rushes
along.
Great is Jehovah the Lord!
Mighty in His power.

Thou hear'st it in the green budding boughs
of the forest,
Seest it in the cornfields that glow like gold,
In flowers ye may see it in bright varied hues,
And in the stars still His marvellous power
behold.

Awful rolls He in thunder on high,
The flame of His lightning darts in terror
below,
And each beating heart, every soul feels His wondrous power and might.

We bow to the power dwelling in Him,
The Lord of all, and up to the Father.

Thou to Him look for aid,
In hope to gain His love and grace,
Turning then, we implore His love and grace and protection.
Great is Jehovah the Lord!

(b)
The Heav'ns with praise to the Lord are abounding.
His name to hear afar they rejoice;
The earth, the sea, to His honour are sounding;

Give ear, O man! to Nature's voice.
The stars above us, who is it upholdeth?
Who leadeth from his tent the sun?
He cometh, laughing, His glory unfoldeth,
A giant who His course would run!

Carols—

(a) Good King Wenceslas Traditional

(b) Wassail Song Traditional

MASTER WALTER DOIG and P. McFARLANE
and

ROYAL VICTORIAN LIEDERTAFEL

(a) Good King Wenceslas look'd out
On the feast of Stephen,
When the snow lay round about,
Deep, and crisp, and even.

Brightly shone the moon that night,
Though the frost was cruel,
When a poor man came in sight,
Gath'ring winter fuel.

Baritone Solo:

"Hither, page, and stand by me,
If thou know'st it, telling,
Yonder peasant, who is he?
Where and what his dwelling?"

Treble Solo:

"Sire, he lives a good league hence,
Underneath the mountain;
Right against the forest fence,
By St. Agnes' fountain."

Baritone Solo:

"Bring me flesh, and bring me wine,
Bring me pine-logs hither;
Thou and I will see him dine
When we bear them thither."

Chorus:

Page and monarch forth they went,
Forth they went together;
Through the rude wind's wide lament
And the bitter weather.

Treble Solo:

"Sire, the night is darker now,
And the wind blows stronger;
Fails my heart, I know not how;
I can go no longer."

Baritone Solo:

"Mark my footsteps, my good page;
Tread thou in them boldly;
Thou shalt find the winter's rage
Freeze thy blood less coldly."

Chorus:

In his master's steps he trod,
Where the snow lay dinted;
Heat was in the very sod
Which the saint had printed.
Therefore, Christian men, be sure,
Wealth or rank possessing,
Ye who now will bless the poor
Shall yourselves find blessing.

(b) Here we come a-wassailing
Among the leaves so green;
Here we come a-wandering,
So fair to be seen.

Chorus:

Love and joy come to you,
And to your wassail too;
And God bless you and send you a Happy
New Year,
And God send you a Happy New Year.

Our wassail-cup is made
Of the rosemary tree,
And so is your beer
Of the best barley.
Love and joy, etc.

Call up the butler of this house,
Put on his golden ring;
Let him bring us a glass of beer,
And the better we shall sing.
Love and joy, etc.

Bring us out a table,
And spread it with a cloth;
Bring us out mouldy cheese,
And some of your Christmas loaf.
Love and joy, etc.

God bless the Master of this house,
Likewise the Mistress, too;
And all the little children
That round the table go,
Love and joy, etc.

Auld Lang Syne EVERYBODY

"So fare you well till we meet again."
